

The Citizen v2.1 Creed

I am a citizen of the United States of America.

Of myself, my fellow citizens, and especially those in positions of public trust, I expect: Honesty, Objectivity, Respect, Compassion, Competence, Cordiality, and Courage. In addition, I expect Openness to fresh ideas, Service to others before self, Obedience to just laws, and acceptance of Personal Responsibility for both words and deeds.

I will therefore be ever intolerant of: dishonesty, rash judgements, misdirected blame and anger, bigotry, arrogance, narcissism, hypocrisy, incompetence, and cowardice. I will also not tolerate slander, rudeness and crudeness of language, bullying, physical and verbal abuse, lawlessness, and violence for purposes other than self-defense.

I vow to be a servant-leader for my family, my community, my state, my nation, and the world. In return, I insist upon taking my rightful place in The Citizenry which shall become the fourth and highest branch of government. Through regular referenda, this branch will directly determine the national policies that affect the course of our lives, and our decisions shall bind the lower three branches to action.

I am an American Citizen of the 21st century.

Sovereignty rests in my hands.
